

A SAD ACCIDENT.—The Germantown Telegraph states that a singular accident "occurred at Armstrong's Factory on Friday last. A young man named Jonathan Smith, while engaged at some work on the roof of the wheel-house, unfortunately fell through upon the water-wheel, which was in motion at the time, precipitating him with so much force between the wheel and a rough stone wall, where the space is not more than six or eight inches, that the wheel was instantly stopped. The hands in the mill, surprised at the stopping of the machinery, ran to the wheel to ascertain the cause, when Smith, supposed to be dead, was found in the manner described. With the utmost difficulty he was extricated, and after some time he regained his consciousness. His head was severely cut and bruised on his left arm there was a severe gash full six inches in length; while his right hip, which must have resisted the whole power of the large wheel, was severely contused, and which, it was feared, with the other injuries, would prove fatal. He was immediately ordered to the Hospital."

AFFRAY IN CLARK COUNTY.—An unfortunate affray occurred in Clark county, (Mo.) near Waukegan, on Tuesday, the 19th, which originated in settling the partnership concerns of Messrs. McKane and McAllister, who had been engaged in the business of distilling, and resulted in the death of the latter, who was shot down by McKane because of his attempting to take possession of seven barrels of whiskey, the property of McKane, which had been knocked off to McAllister at a Sheriff's sale at $1 per barrel. McKane immediately fled, and at the latest date had not been taken. This unfortunate affair caused considerable excitement in the neighborhood, as both the parties were men with large families depending upon them and stood well in the community.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

THURSDAY, May 5.
COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.—Before Judge KENT and Attorneys BAILY and HATFIELD.—Case of John C. Colt.—The prisoner was brought into Court on a motion being made for a new trial. He seemed somewhat anxious, and even worn, but not greatly altered from his appearance when last in Court. The District Attorney and Mr. Smith appeared for the people, and Mr. Morell and Mr. Faunt for the prisoner. The motion is distinct from the bill of exceptions presented to the higher Court, and is founded on new facts as to informality in summoning the Jury, and in a declaration of one of the Jurors, expressed previous to the trial, that the prisoner ought to be hung, &c. After remarks Mr. Morell presented several affidavits.

Frederick N. Kensey testified, in substance, as follows: He resides at 241 Henry street. Is a student at law in the office of Mr. Field. Ga the Saturday night in which the trial closed he remained in the Park, near the City Hall, and could see the Jurors in their room after they had retired. Particularly recognised Mr. Delavan, whom he knew. The window was open and some of the Jurors put their heads out several times and caused him to make remarks as to its impropriety—one of them looked out for me two minutes. Witness heard the words "acquitted or conviction," and he thought it was said by the Juror. One of them was looking out and he heard a person exclaim "Hang him up by the heels," and other such remarks, at which witness was astonished. He communicated what he heard to several persons, including Mr. Selden, one of the counsel. He did not know Colt nor any of his connections, except his brother.

Levi Peck, Robert N. Bouton, Benj. True and Dr. John Conning, several made affidavit to having been present at the North American Hotel some time previous to the trial of Colt, and heard Mr. Nathan R. Husted (proprietor of the house, who was expelled and served on the trial as a juror) say that Colt ought to be hung up without judge or jury—that he ought to be hung first and tried afterward—that if the law could not reach the people would, &c. He spoke in answer to a remark made about the death of Adams, and expressed himself in an exceedingly severe language.

Prances T. Wilson testified to having heard Mr. Husted say, the evening before the trial, that he had a summons, and wished to God he could get on the Jury, but he supposed he could not get within a hundred of it; but if he could not get it he had made up his mind he would be hung.

Robert A. Bouton, explanation, testified that he was present but did not hear all the expressions attributed to Mr. Husted. He said it was an awful crime and Colt ought to be hung up without a trial.

Thomas S. Miller testified to being present at the conversation. He came in while we were talking, and said if he had him he would hang him up without judge or jury. We replied with such sentiments he would not answer to be a Juror. This was some weeks before the trial. He came in while they were talking about Colt and Adams, and made the remarks he did off hand, and without consideration, &c.

Mr. Whiting made affidavit as to an explanatory document which Dr. Conning signed in his office but did not come back and swear to it. The Dr. states in it that Mr. Husted came in while they were talking about Colt and Adams, and made the remarks he did off hand, and without consideration, &c.

John A. Bouton, explanation, testified that he was present but did not hear all the expressions attributed to Mr. Husted. He said it was an awful crime and Colt ought to be hung up without a trial.
